Purpose Of Present Strategic Planning

U.S. Hopes To Turn War Tide Decisively In 1967

How may the war in Viet Nam develop in coming months? The following story is the result of an investigation among high level Washington officials by John M. Hightower, Pulitzer Prize-winning reporter who heads the AP's State Department staff.

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
AP Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. officials hope to turn the tide of war decisively against Communist forces in South Viet Nam by early next year.

The hope is tentative and authorities concede it could be upset by adverse military or political developments in the months ahead.

Nevertheless, it defines an important purpose of present strategic planning. President Johnson's advisers believe it represents a reasonable projection of the recent course of the war in Viet Nam plus the probable results to be obtained from the planned massive buildup of U.S. forces.

The critical point will be reached, strategists say, when manpower losses suffered by Communist forces under the pounding of American, South Vietnamese and allied troops and American planes begins to exceed the Communist capacity to replace manpower.

The estimate that this point can be reached by early next year is expected to figure in the strategic review and planning session soon to be held by President Johnson in connection with a return here for consultation of Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge.

Lodge is due back May 9. It will be his first trip here in about nine months, though he conferred with Johnson and other administration leaders in Honolulu last February.

U.S. military strength in South Viet Nam now stands at about 250,000 men, with South Vietnamese forces at about 700,000, including irregulars and police.

The tentatively scheduled buildup of U.S. forces, subject to periodic decision by President Johnson as specific reinforcement requests arrive from Saigon, will put the total at 400,000 or more by the end of the year.

One result of the buildup will be to increase the number of combat battalions as compared with supply and base-protection forces, greatly enlarging the search and destroy capacity of U.S. forces.

This is a principal reason why Johnson administration planners have now made the tentative assumption that around the turn of the year or early in 1967 Communist losses will exceed the ability of the Communists to maintain their manpower levels through recruitment and through infiltration of forces from North Viet Nam.

Officials say that achieving this point in turning the tide of the war depends on several other assumptions. One of these is that the developing political situation in South Viet Nam will not seriously impair military operations during the coming summer and fall. Not all Washington authorities agree that this is a reasonable assumption at this time, since recent demonstrations against the Saigon government slowed military operations.

Other important assumptions underlying the forecast of a turning point in the war are:

1. That the Viet Cong will not radically alter their strategy and seek to avoid combat in the months ahead in order to reduce their loss rate.

2. That North Viet Nam and

After Political Crisis

South Viet Army Intensifies Fight

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. military spokesmen reported today that the Vietnamese army and air force are hitting the Communists with renewed vigor after weeks of lessened activity during the political crisis.

Government forces waged 77 battalion-sized operations against the Viet Cong in the past week, an increase of 10 per cent, and the air force stepped up its sorties against the enemy by 30 per cent.

The Viet Cong mostly continued to avoid contact with American forces, and U.S. casualties dropped sharply last week. Government losses also were down, but Viet Cong casualties increased somewhat, reflecting the larger part being played again by the South Vietnamese.

The U.S. command said 35 Americans were killed, 547 wounded and eight missing or captured last week, compared with 89 killed, 635 wounded and five missing the week before. The number killed was the lowest since the week ending Jan. 22, when 21 Americans died in action.

Viet Cong losses for the week were put at 694 killed and 69 captured, compared with 531 killed and 135 captured April 16. The government reported 93 killed and 33 missing, a decline from 141 killed and 52 missing the week before. Vietnamese wounded are not announced. Other allied casualties rose to 32 killed and 19 wounded, compared with three dead and 19 wounded the previous week.

The Viet Cong took a major share of their casualties when they were hit by U.S. Marines and Vietnamese troops in coastal Quang Ngai Province last week. It was the first big Vietnamese operation since the start of the political turmoil in mid-March. At least 25 Red Devils were reported killed in the joint campaign.

Most of the Vietnamese casualties came in daily Viet Cong attacks on small outposts and hamlets, hinting at a decision by the Communist command to revert to hit-and-run warfare. The Communists also have stepped up terrorism in Saigon and its vicinity.

Although the Communists still were ducking the Americans, the U.S. 1st Infantry Division reported finding hundreds of tons of abandoned Viet Cong supplies at a huge storage center near the Cambodian frontier 70 miles northwest of Saigon. It was one of the biggest hauls of the war.

The "Big Red One" said at least 30 large caches of rice, salt, cooking oil and clothing were found in a complex of warehouses along the Rach Beng Go River, on the Ho Chi Minh Trail. The jungle network of supply lines is the major infiltration route for men and supplies.

"But if they come from China and we follow them into China to attack their air fields, I think we are pursuing a very dangerous course," he said. "It could escalate the war."

The issue was brought to the forefront when Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., told the Senate Wednesday that the developments must be viewed with grave concern.

"What will be the Chinese response if her territory is bombed or her airspace invaded?" he asked. "Will the Chinese seek to strike at our bases — in Viet Nam or Thailand, or aboard our aircraft carriers?"

"And if they do, what then will our response be — further bombing? And if the scale of bombing increases, will China confine herself to air fighting — or will it send its troops to engage ours on the ground in South Viet Nam?"

Dirkson noted that hot pursuit of the enemy by U.S. planes had not been permitted in the Korean war, a decision he said may have lengthened that conflict.

A variety of methods are used to ferret out nighttime truck traffic.

U.S. strike planes carry infrared sensors which can detect the heat from truck engines and thus betray the location of vehicles cloaked by darkness.

Where such traffic is suspected, U.S. planes eject flares with multimillion candle power brightness to light up the countryside.

Officials also forecast a substantial increase in the amount of such efforts at night, not only in the region between Hanoi and Red China but lower down in North Viet Nam, along roads leading toward South Viet Nam.

Poor weather has hampered such strafing strikes and has prevented accurate estimates of damage inflicted on truck convoys.

Field Plans Received

On New 9th St. Ramp

Field plans for the new auto-pedestrian ramp linking together the dead-end section of W. 9th St. were received Wednesday afternoon from the consulting engineering firm of W. E. Quicksall and Associates of New Philadelphia, Safety-Service Director Robert E. Vodrey said today.

The plans have been referred to Engineer George Bloomgren for study. Vodrey said Quicksall's firm is expected to arrange a conference for discussion of the plans by city officials and representatives of the State Highway Department and the Federal Bureau of Public Roads.

Beautification Theme Selected For Cleanup

A beautification theme will be stressed by a women's committee aiding in a Sunnyside neighborhood cleanup campaign in May, sponsored by the Sunnyside Improvement Association. The women decided Wednesday night at a meeting at the home of Mrs. Hugh Ward of Alton St.

The five-member committee decided that five additional members will be added shortly. It said one of its primary aims will be to stress beautification of the area and to help in publicizing the overall campaign.

The women's committee will meet again Thursday night, May 5, at the home of Mrs. C. Frank Dales of Alton St., chairman. The general improvement committee will meet next on May 11 at the Ohio Valley Gas Co. office.

Man Penalized For Contributing In Youths' Case

A Glenmoor man was given a suspended 90-day jail term and fined $150 and costs after pleading guilty before Juvenile Judge Louis Tobin to contributing to the delinquency of two East Liverpool boys and a Rogers teen-ager, who were handed penalties today.

Victor Hargraves of M. C. 22 drew the suspended term and fine on a charge that he purchased a case of beer Saturday for the trio. The East Liverpool boys are 16 and 17 and the Rogers youth is 17.

Because of the 16-year-old's attitude to police, Judge Tobin ordered the youth and his parents to apologize to Police Chief Americo Radeschi on behalf of the two patrolmen.

The three youths today were ordered by Judge Tobin to make $25 contributions to the Child Counseling Center in East Liverpool. He suspended their drivers' licenses for three months, placed them on a 7 p.m. curfew for three months and ordered them to report to Miller every other Saturday.

A Welcome To Ohio Brass

We strongly echo the words of Bob Boyce and Mike Turk, who leased the property, that "the Ohio Brass Co. will be a welcome addition to our industry."

They were referring to the acquisition of the former Edwin M. Knowles China Co. building in Newell by the Ohio Brass Co. of Mansfield.

Few things are more distressing than a former productive plant standing idle. The Knowles plant has been closed since the pottery company discontinued in 1962. And it has proved distressing, not only to the residents of Newell, but to others in the area.

Fortunately, there were those who did not throw up their hands in despair and shrug "What's the use". Instead they got busy and began seeking an established company to move into the facility, which had much to offer—adequate space, a suitable labor market, river and rail outlets and the mounting potential of the tri-state district.

With Ohio Brass taking over, new life will be breathed into a property which at one time was a key part of the economic complex. With the new life will come new jobs and the possibility of new related industries.

Consumation of the transaction with Ohio Brass shows what can be accomplished by a well-planned, determined program—and, above all, a lot of hard work.

In the competitive field of today, those who would attract new industry must be prepared for hard work. You must have something to offer to begin with, but you must be able to "sell" this something in the face of hundreds of other communities with the same objectives. Knowing those who are in positions of responsibility, there's no doubt that the hard work will continue to the point where additional benefits should be realized industrial-wise.

To Ohio Brass of Mansfield, our wishes for a prosperous operation. The economy should receive a welcome shot in the arm as the Mansfield firm joins already-established industries in the area.

To The Future

In the midst of legal roadblocks thrown up by a dissident group of stockholders, the Crucible Steel Co. has taken time to announce an expansion program that speaks well for the future of the Midland Works.

Word from President Joel Hunter that Crucible will install two new top blown oxygen converters for the production of stainless and alloy steels makes it clear that Crucible does not intend to stand still, but instead intends to maintain the high position it has attained in the field of specialty steel.

It's inevitable that the question "What will this mean to employment?" will arise as the future is speculated by the labor force at Midland. It's a logical question by those who depend on the mill for their livelihood and only time and developments in the industry will supply the answer.

But just as logical is the realization that unless Crucible keeps step there could be far fewer employees around to ask the question.

That Would Make Sense

If the squabble over some 3,000 acres of unneeded land at the Ravenna arsenal leads to a policy showdown it will be worth the red necks and the adrenalin that made them that way.

In the showdown, it should be made clear to public jobholders everywhere that taxpayers do not expect them to hold on to land not needed for public purposes.

There can be no justification for keeping land in government ownership merely for the sake of owning it. Government is not expected to amass property for the sake of building up treasures here on earth.

When it needs land for an arsenal, a military reservation, a park or any other legitimate purpose, well and good. Its right of eminent do-

Armored Car Business

We can bet on the auto industry to take care of itself as far as the government's nibbling into its business is concerned.

But anyone who isn't worried about what is going to happen to the rest of us while the "bizzy fingers" of the federal establishment and the "hard noses" of the auto industry work out terms of survival must have been reading too many civics books and not enough newspapers.

It must be obvious to all by this time that the outsiders doing the meddling are a familiar type of lawyer-legislator who can't stand the thought of anything in this world which hasn't been festooned with red tape.

They have the auto manufacturers in a bind because the federal government is a major customer for their products, with states following close behind. And life isn't all automobiles for these prime customers either, because auto companies have branched out into a wide range of other products government must buy.

In short, the auto industry and government must get along together because they cannot survive separately—and this is why the rest of us need to be worried.

The lawyer-legislators who say they are going to save us from harm, with the help of a forthcoming horde of bureaucrats and assorted "operators," are the same breed that has been saving us from harm every time we forgot to bar the door. What have they done to merit our confidence?

The auto industry, on the other hand, has given us many of our most cherished moments while making itself the all-time success story of the industrial era. Could it be we are taking for granted something so fantastic it should be regarded as a miracle?

The miracle never could have happened if the Political Establishment had been entrenched in the way it is trying to entrench itself now. In the name of safety or some other high-sounding excuse, it would have kept its dead hand on Detroit's windpipe.

It would have guided the industry into all the dead-end streets of modern economics, from a backseat driver's position. Even without the help of lawyer-legislators, the auto industry made such monumental bloopers as the Edsel, free wheeling and a horde of gidgets and gadgets that didn't work.

But it was free to back out of its dead ends and look for something else. Its experimentation paid off so handsomely in acceptance and successful use of its products that the auto industry today is the foundation of industrial enterprise in the United States—as much or more so than the steel industry.

Safety? Who's kidding. The safest drivers are driving the same cars as accident-prone misfits who should be barred from the highways. An automobile never got into an accident by itself. Some one drove it.

If lawyer-legislators now want to go into the armored-car business, so everybody can be in a state of combat readiness at all times, maybe they should start their own business.

such dramatists as Lillian Hellman, Philip Barry, S. N. Behrman, Clifford Odets, Paul Vincent Carroll, John Van Druten and Edward Albee.

YOU COULD MAKE—and Bendiner has made—similar lists for the other five arts. He also raises the interesting question of why Pulitzer prizes are awarded to composers of music but not to painters of pictures.

The award of the Pulitzer for the novel, according to Bendiner, who here reveals an open secret of long standing, was withheld for Hemingway's For Whom the Bell Tolls because Nicholas Murray Butler, then president of Columbia, thought the book "lascivious." One anonymous juror opposed (but failed to veto) A Bell for Adorno because he regarded it as a libel on his friend, Gen. Patton.

Arthur Krook, columnist of the New York Times, is accused by Bendiner of lobbying at least two books through to Pulitzer laurels.

THE 1949 WINNER of the Nobel Prize, William Faulkner, had to wait until 1955 to receive a Pulitzer, and then it was for a fable, of all things. Perhaps Sinclair Lewis, who declined the Pulitzer for Arrowsmith in 1926, still smarting at having been passed over for Main Street and Babbitt, summed up the Pulitzer standards by charging that art would be judged by "whatever code of Good Form may chance to be popular at the moment."

This is a sad reflection on this May first Monday, the 50th on which the prizes are to be awarded. However uneven the past selections, the jurors have had the grace to give the drama award four times to Eugene O'Neill, and this took some small measure of courage.

Historians who have gone without the Pulitzer kudos have been Charles Beard, Henry Steele Commager, Allen Nevins, Arthur Schlesinger, Sr., Samuel Eliot Morrison and Perry Miller.

Pushbutton Warfare!

Struck Papers Lose—Lose

By Victor Riesel

It's the perennial practice of self-appointed sophisticates to do a mumbo-jumbo routine about "press lords" during times of stress.

Many of the pipe-chewing Bohemians have supped at the table of Gotham's journalism, and so it comes with ill grace to hear them mangle the publishers strike since Johannes Gutenberg first set type.

There is much to be said about the fears of the men picketing the inaugural plant of the still-born World Journal Tribune.

Let it be remembered that they do have something to picket—and that this is the result of a $40-million dollar sacrifice by publishers to keep New York's famed, but harassed, journalism alive during the past decade or so.

It should be understood that the $40 million figure is a straight loss and no conjecture. It's there for all to sum up on what is euphemistically called profit and loss statements.

MUCH OF THIS MONEY has been lost during the past few years, though a good deal of it has flowed red in slightly earlier years when this town was the first port of call and not the Port Said of the craft.

Reputations were made on these "sheets" Prize winners were made. Great by-lines poured from the linotypes here across the land.

The cost was heavy but not to those who earned their daily bread and prestige from the public prints—be they tabloid or full-measure.

It's the reliable estimate of one publisher, given to understatement, that the three newspapers, now merged into one still-hopeful enterprise, lost at least $25 million in the last three years.

That is, ever since the end of the 1962-63 marathon strike. Of this princely sum, a large one even in this fun city, $10 million was lost in the last year alone.

Thus it takes no pencil lancer to observe that the money has been lost at an ever increasing pace—escalation is the "in" word these days.

THERE WERE LOSSES before that. It can be reported that one of the newspapers in the new combination privately told Mayor Lindsay that it has been losing some $5 million a year.

Another publisher, in truly agonizing appraisals and reappraisals during long early morning hours, talked of the newspaper blood that runs through his veins—and almost more in sorrow than in anger said his paper had been losing some $3 million a year.

He sees New York as a big red blot on the business statements, but the image of men with whom he has worked for more than three decades comes through and so he fights on.

The publishers have countered with $1.5 million. They might go up another half million.

But not more.

The unions' view is: The publishers have lost that much money each year. Now let them fund out that much for one more year and then they'll have clear sailing.

Perhaps. But in the words of one anguished publisher—still dedicated to his craft: "It's no privilege to love money—especially not so heavily and for so long."

IN TOTAL, THE BILL for the funds and severance and early retirement comes, according to excellent authority, to almost $9 million before the new World Journal Tribune can start rolling.

The publishers have countered with $1.5 million. They might go up another half million.

But not more.

The unions' view is: The publishers have lost that much money each year. Now let them fund out that much for one more year and then they'll have clear sailing.

'Suspicion'

By David Lawrence

New Statute Changes Things

For many centuries the rule of law has been that an accused person is innocent until proven guilty beyond a reasonable doubt. This principle has been almost universally accepted in democracies as a symbol of freedom and as the essence of individual rights.

The American people today are experiencing some of the tragic effects caused by a deliberate disregard of that same concept in a law passed by Congress and signed by the President of the United States in August 1964. This statute provides that the David Lawrence states, counties and cities of America may be found guilty by suspicion and the citizens thereof—even though innocent of any wrongdoing themselves—may be punished by being deprived of the benefits of federal funds such as are furnished to other localities "under any program or activity receiving federal financial assistance."

There may be individual officers or supervisors who are guilty of racial discrimination, for instance, in the assignment of pupils to public schools. Instead, however, of bringing them to court and establishing their guilt or innocence, the federal government now is to impose punishment on an entire community.

IT'S THE "LAW of the land" that no official or any other person acting under the color of law can refuse admission to a pupil by reason of race or religion, and there are proper steps to be taken to enforce this by court action and to punish anybody who transgresses. There is no sanction anywhere in the field of jurisprudence for penalizing a community in which the vast majority of persons are themselves innocent of any wrongdoing.

Yet the federal government, acting under the powers granted in the Civil Rights Act of 1964, now threatens to punish all the parents of children residing in a state or county or city if the number of pupils from each race attending public schools within the state or governmental subdivision does not conform to arbitrary percentages which are specified in "guidelines" issued by the U.S. commissioner of education.

The doctrine of "government by suspicion" is carried even further in the Voting Rights Act passed by Congress and signed by the President, Aug. 6, 1965. By this law, the rule is established that if in any state, city, county or district the number of persons of voting age who were registered or who voted in the November 1964 election was less than 50 per cent of the census figures, then the locality shall be punished by being deprived of its own right to register voters.

INSTEAD OF INDICTING an official who has improperly used any voter-qualification test and giving him a chance in court to prove his innocence, the new law chooses instead to punish the whole district and take away from the community the right to use any "test or device" that is suspected of being misapplied.

The phrase "test or device" is defined as "any requirement that a person as a prerequisite for voting or registration for voting (1) demonstrate the ability to read, write, understand, or interpret any matter, (2) demonstrate any educational achievement or his knowledge of any particular subject, (3) possess good moral character . . ."

Other states may be exempted and permitted to impose these same requirements even if they have been misused or when such incidents have been "few in number" and "There is no reasonable probability of their recurrence in the future."

IN FACT, THE LAW sets up the attorney general as a judge, although historically no prosecuting officer has been given such power. The statute says that if the attorney general receives complaints in writing from 20 or more residents of a governmental subdivision alleging discrimination and he believes such complaints "to be meritorious," or if the ratio of nonwhite to white persons registered "appears to him to be reasonably attributable to violations local officers of the power to conduct registrations and send in federal examiners to take their place.

Thus "government by suspicion" is established as a rule of law where local officers may have violated civil rights.

Through The Years

From The Review Files

THIRTY YEARS AGO — A large crowd attended the first performance of the operetta "Don Alonso's Treasure" at East Liverpool High School, with Sara Marie Gaston and Porter Mackey playing the leading roles.

T. F. Scheffer, physical director at the YMCA, addressed members of the Eras Club of ELHS on the topic "Body Muscles."

TWENTY YEARS AGO — Joseph Poole was installed as president of the Grant St. Civic League.

Miss Colleen Cochrane, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Cochrane of Thompson Ave., was crowned queen at the annual Junior - Senior Prom.

TEN YEARS AGO — The 60th anniversary of the Wellsville Second Presbyterian Church was observed with special services, with Mrs. John G. Lewis, a charter member, as one of the speakers.

Awards for faithfulness and accomplishments were presented to five members of the Cherub Choir of St. John's Evangelical Lutheran Church — Janice Ladzinsky, Pamela Maloney, Delores Strobel, Nicki Mackall and Lucy Shaffer.

Mrs. Hartman Chosen As Secretary Of Year

Mrs. Evelyn Hartman of Man-
o. Ln. was named "Secretary of the Year" during the fifth annual dinner party for executives' wives held by the East Liverpool Area Chapter of the National Secretaries Association Wednesday night at the Inn Town Motel.

An employee of the Ohio Power Co., she is a charter member. She has served as vice president, treasurer, director-at-large and program coordinator. Mrs. Hartman has attended most of the state and district conferences and workshops and was responsible for the publication of the association bulletin. She was a member of the Ohio Division Bylaws Committee for two years.

THE RECOGNITION is given to the member who has contributed most to the success of the association during the last year. She received the crown from Mrs. Ruth Pearson, last year's winner, and an arm bouquet of American Beauty roses from Mrs. Ruby Coleman.

Mrs. Angie Frank, president, introduced Miss Judy Kozar of Steubenville, district home service director for the Ohio Valley Gas Co., who spoke on "Wives, Wolves and Waistlines."

Allen Will Head Democrat Group

Roy Allen, editor of the Columbian Ledger, has been appointed president of the Columbian County League of Young Democrats. County Chairman Don R. Gosney announced today.

Allen, a candidate for state representative, said the league will be organized May 18 at a meeting place to be announced.

He said a delegation of at least three members will represent the county at the State League of Young Democrats convention at Toledo in June.

Membership is open to all Democrats between the ages of 21 and 35, both men and women.

Allen pointed out "interest created by the group should insure the voters of continued well-qualified Democratic candidates and promote good local, county and district government."

Dallas To Be Speaker At Grant Hill Church

HAMMONDSVILLE — Kenneth Dallas of Canton will be the speaker during the 7:30 p.m. service Sunday at the Grant Hill United Presbyterian Church. Special music will be provided. Dallas is a son of Mr. and Mrs. John Dallas of Chestnut Grove Ridge and a graduate of Irondale High School.

When a recipe calls for a cup of chicken broth, you can use a chicken bouillon cube dissolved in a cup of hot water.

Clubs Organized For Students At Local Kent Unit

Four

clubs have been organized for students at the East Liverpool Academic Center of Kent State University.

A History Club meets Wednesdays at 4:30 p.m. in the IBOP Building on W. 6th St. and a Science Club Thursdays at 2 p.m. at the building.

A Fine Arts Club will hold its first meeting Friday night to plan an art festival for May.

A new debate team group is scheduled to organize this week.

A tour of the Kent campus will be held Saturday for students wishing to take the bus trip, which will include attendance at a theater production of "The Streets of New York."

The bus will leave the center at 10 a.m.

Deadline Nears For Wellsville Dinner Meeting

The reservation deadline is Tuesday for the Industry Appreciation dinner of the Wellsville Chamber of Commerce next Thursday at 6:30 p.m. at the First Christian Church.

Reservations may be made by contacting J. Marvin Hall, chamber secretary, or Dick Keay at the Potters Bank and Trust Co. in Wellsville. The tickets may be picked up when ordered at the dinner.

Gov. James Rhodes of Ohio will be guest speaker.

Industrial displays will be set up of the products and services offered by the city's various industries.

Donald W. Penn, president, will preside.

3 Are Injured As Cars Ram

A Wellsville youth was hospitalized and two from Toronto were injured in an auto accident Wednesday at 10:30 p.m. at the junction of Route 7 and 213 at Yellow Creek.

The Wintersville State Highway Patrol said the crash involved cars operated by Frederick Stillwell, 16, of Toronto and Clarence D. Hartley, 22, of Toronto R.D. 1.

Officers said both were southbound when Hartley drove into Stillwell suffered a bruised left side, the extreme right lane as if intending to make a turn onto the mouth.

Legion Meeting Set

Midland American Legion Post 481 will meet Monday at 8 p.m. at the post rooms to complete plans for a Memorial Day celebration, to nominate a county finance officer and to complete plans for the Midland American Legion Invitational Track Meet. Comdr. Woodrow Plugh will preside.

Melvin Newlin, 17, son of Joseph Newlin of 1312 Commerce St. and a passenger in the Hartley car, was admitted to City Hospital with possible head and left shoulder injuries. He was in "fair" condition today.

Tide Of War

Red China will not radically alter the major dimensions of the war by intervention which would expand it into a different kind of conflict.

In summary, the projection of a turning point is based on the assumption that the war will continue to develop along the lines which have characterized the conflict in recent months.

According to figures and rough estimates now available from officials here, the Viet Cong suffered manpower losses in killed, captured, wounded, and defections during the first four months of this year amounting to considerably more than 20,000 men. Government figures show a total of about 15,000 Communists killed in action and probably another 5,000 men counted as defectors.

In the same four months, however, the Viet Cong replacements were estimated at about 32,000, consisting of an infiltration of troops from North Viet Nam at 4,500 a month and recruitment in the South of guerrilla fighters, porters and the like at the rate of 3,500 per month.

U.S. strategists agree that, as these figures suggest, Viet Cong forces still are increasing in spite of the fact that U.S. troops with their heavy firepower have been building up rapidly in South Viet Nam for a year now. American government estimates put Viet Cong main force strength at 47,750 in June 1965, 70,100 in December 1965, and 90,000 in April 1966. In addition, local guerrilla and supporting forces of the Communists are estimated at 100,000 to 120,000.

U.S. military authorities estimate that the Viet Cong forces now have 111 combat battalions at their disposal and will have 155 by the end of this year. At that level, U.S. experts say, the Communists probably will require about 150 tons of supplies daily.

The dominant view in administration planning is that heavy and sustained air strikes against the Communist supply lines do and will put a ceiling on replacement capacity and do limit the ability of the Viet Cong to maintain their strength.

U.S. authorities also assume that the Viet Cong's ability to recruit fighters in the countryside in South Viet Nam is limited and will decrease as the war goes against them.

Similarly, authorities here say that Viet Cong defections increase and those of the South Vietnamese forces decrease in periods when relative political stability prevails in Saigon and when it appears that the Communists are being beaten militarily.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and various military leaders said toward the end of last year that "we have stopped losing the war."

They have shied away, however, from making any over-all claims of victory or trying to lay down a blueprint for victory in the future.

The most that officials claim now for the point at which Viet Cong losses would begin to run ahead of replacements is that it should have a damaging effect on Viet Cong morale.

On the other hand, officials from President Johnson down are opposed to making more than tentative assumptions about future developments in Viet Nam which are beyond their control. They cannot rule out the possibility of a radical change in Communist strategy either to escalate the war, or to pull back from combat.

March 25. It was discussed before County Court in April.

In rejecting the petition yesterday, Judge Pryor said:

"The case appears before the court on the petition by the State of West Virginia filed by the prosecuting attorney, Floyd Tarr, speaking from the assessment of Waterford Park filed by the Board of Equalization and Review, and upon Waterford Park, Inc., which challenges the jurisdiction of the Circuit Court to hear said appeal on the grounds that no valid record of the proceedings... which can be reviewed by said court is attached, and as a result thereof the appeal was improvidently awarded."

Representing Waterford Park at the proceedings, as he did in two secret sessions, was Frank A. Pietranon of Weirton.

The collapse of the appeal on the legal technicality followed approval by the county commissioners of an all-time record budget of $918,825 for the 1966-67 fiscal year.

The budget approved in March by a 2-1 vote with Evans dissenting, provided for a $6,000 slash in salaries for employees of the assessor's office. The cut was approved, while all other county employees received a raise.

Subsidy

present low-rent public housing program.

The estimated subsidies of $40 a month for each family under the program would be less than the $58 which public housing now costs, they said.

Robert C. Weaver, secretary of housing and urban development, has estimated the $12 million will finance 20,000 units of new housing for rent-subsidized tenants in projects built by non-profit organizations. None of the subsidies would go to private landlords.

The federal government would pay the difference between 25 per cent of a family's income and the rent needed to support the apartment project.

Only families now eligible for public housing — generally those with incomes below $5,760 a year — could qualify.

Voting to retain the money were 41 Democrats and 5 Republicans; opposed were 26 Democrats and 19 Republicans.

The 1965 housing bill authorized $30 million for the subsidies this year and Johnson originally asked that figure. But Senate Democratic leaders decided not to try to go beyond the $12 million already approved in the House.

After Senate passage, the supplemental bill was sent to conference with the House which had included $2.56 billion in it. Funds for the rent subsidies are certain to be retained since they are in both versions.

piles from North Viet Nam through eastern Laos and Cambodia.

U.S. planes continued the air war against the Communists north without letup Wednesday, setting afire one antiaircraft missile site and spotting two Vinh, a spokesman reported. This is the farthest south any have been sighted in North Viet Nam.

The spokesman said the Communists sent up two missiles against U.S. F4C Phantoms, but the supersonic jets evaded them.

Air Force fighter-bombers ranged around Dong Hoi, less than 50 miles from the South Vietnamese border, while Navy planes headed farther north to Viet Nam this morning, saturating suspected Communist troops concentrations 50 miles southeast of Da Nang. Other U.S. Air Force and Navy planes straddling the Laotian border, had closed the mountain roadways again and also destroyed seven trucks. The pass, which links up with the Ho Chi Minh Trail, was reopened by thousands of laborers after the first B52 raid April 12.

The B52s returned to South Cong were reported killed and two weapons captured in the operation, which began Tuesday.

Weirton Steel Reports Drop In Air Pollution

WEIRTON — A new exhaust control system has eliminated air pollution from the pickling lines of the Weirton Steel Division of the National Steel Corp., C. G. Tournay, president, has announced.

A system of wet scrubbers removes more than 99 per cent of the acid fumes which are generated in the pickling process, Tournay said. In pickling, the strip of steel is treated with acid to remove scale and iron oxide.

National Steel has pioneered the new pickling process, which uses hydrochloric acid instead of sulfuric acid. This results in much less stream pollution, greater speed of the pickling line and a better quality pickling operation that produces a cleaner surface on the steel, Tournay said.

The wet scrubbers have been installed on Nos. 2, 3 and 4 pickling lines. The exhaust air is treated with water, and since the acid fumes are soluble in water, they are collected in the scrubber and not discharged into the atmosphere.

Other air and stream pollution control equipment currently in operation at Weirton Steel includes an electrostatic precipitator, which eliminates smoke from the No. 13 and No. 14 open hearth furnaces; oil recovery systems in the Strip Steel Department and on both Weirton mills, and an acid collection system on the pickling lines with facilities to pump and store the acid for off-site neutralization.

In addition, the new "Mill of the Future," now under construction, will have the latest and most efficient types of air pollution control equipment, including wet scrubbers, baghouse filters and cyclonic-type dust collectors, Tournay added.

As part of its air and stream pollution control activity, Weirton Steel maintains a Department of Industrial Health Engineering, staffed by William M. Smith, supervisor, two engineers and a chemist. This department, in addition to providing a healthy environment for employees in the plant, plans and develops community air and stream pollution control programs.

Fred E. Tucker, manager of pollution control and services for National Steel, also maintains his office here.

East Fairfield Banquet's Set

The annual mother-daughter banquet will be held May 9 at 6 p.m. at the East Fairfield Methodist Church. All women of the church are invited.

Mrs. Agnes Webber conducted devotions when Joy Circle of the WSCS met Monday night with Mrs. Evelyn Morris. Mrs. Ruth Chamberlin was co-hostess and Mrs. Lucille Fuhrman arranged the program.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Bable visited Sunday with the Rev. and Mrs. Donald Bable of Salem.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hawkins were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Meiser of Columbiana.

Mrs. Mary Pemberton of Damascus and Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Eagleton and son of Salem visited Saturday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. Edd Ezenwein.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Lower returned home Friday after visiting several months with relatives in California. They also visited in Phoenix, Ariz., and Okmulgee, Okla.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Edgar of East Liverpool visited Saturday with Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Hoff.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Zimmer and family visited Saturday with Mr. and Mrs. John Veon of Monaca, Pa.

GOP Speaker Attacks Administration Policy

Criticism of U.S. disarmament policies, State Department handling of foreign affairs and American affiliation with the United Nations was leveled by a Cleveland attorney during a Republican dinner meeting attended by more than 200 Wednesday night at the Elks Club.

Thomas S. Ireland, author, traveler and current events commentator, was guest speaker at the event sponsored by the East Liverpool Men's and Women's Republican Clubs.

William Brokaw, president of the Men's Club, was toastmaster for the dinner. Eleven GOP candidates in the May 3 primary election were among those attending.

INTRODUCED by Charles Pike of Lisbon, Columbiana County GOP chairman, were 18th District Congressman Robert Bell, Donald Elliott and John Longsworth, candidates for state senator; State Rep. Clarence Wetzel, candidate for re-election; County Commissioner James Boyd and Charles Gause, candidates for the commissioner nomination; Councilman Ernest Lowe, candidate for county auditor; Letha Astray and Isabel Chaney, candidates for party district committeewomen, and Bell, candidate for party committeewoman.

Ireland condemned what he termed the "suicidal disarmament policies of the present administration," referring to the reduction of Army and Air Force bases, cutbacks in production of manned planes in favor of missiles and the withdrawal of missiles from the defense perimeter about Russia.

He said the U.S. has declined from the world's greatest military power after World War II to a condition of weakness where the nation is hard put to find one ally."

Ireland blasted the Disarmament Act of 1961, saying it unconstitutionally has permitted negotiating away our arms in a method recommended by Soviet Russia.

He also hit at the sale of wheat to Russia, foreign aid failure to permit Chiang Kai-Shek to attack the Red China mainland and the use of the United Nations as a cornerstone of our foreign policy."

IRELAND declared, "We must get the U.S. out of the U.N., get the U.N. out of the U.S., and give America back to the Americans again."

He said, "We must reassess ourselves. We can save the world only by becoming strong and safeguarding liberty before the candle of freedom blows out and the world becomes totally dark."

Mrs. Hazel Welch was general chairman of the dinner committee, which included Mrs. Ellen McDonald, Mrs. Mary Cawood, Mrs. Helen Brokaw, Richard Allison, Richard Brian and Clifford Conley.

The Rev. Russell Mase of the Emmanuel Presbyterian Church gave the invocation and benediction. Lowe sang the solo quay from "Carousel," accompanied by his wife.

Hancock Man Due Hearing

A 22-year-old New Cumberland area man facing a non-support charge in East Liverpool is also being held on a warrant from Hancock County on a warrant accusing him of obtaining a $189 television set by false pretenses and then selling it.

Larry Osburne of New Cumberland R. D. 2 was taken before Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff this morning on both counts. Since he asked time to obtain counsel on the non-support charge, the judge granted a continuance until Monday at 9 a.m. Bond was set at $200.

The non-support charge was filed by Osburne's wife, Mrs. Diana Osburne of East Liverpool. She alleged he has made no payments for support of their child since Jan. 1.

The Hancock County warrant was issued out of the court of Squire John D. Herron. It was signed by Clovis E. Glover, who alleged Osburne obtained the TV set from him April 11, supposedly on a trial basis, and then sold it to Olive Mankowski.

The lowest price paid for a New York Stock Exchange seat in the last 50 years was in 1942, when a membership changed hands for $17,000.

Burglars In Cleveland Steal 630 Men's Suits

CAMBRIDGE, Ohio (AP) — Burglars broke into a clothing store here Wednesday shortly after closing time and made off with 630 men's suits, police reported.

The suits, taken from the Fred Raymond & Co., were valued at $47,000. A night watchman discovered the theft, police said.

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Hamilton County Democratic Party endorsed State Rep. Harry McIlwain of Cincinnati for the party's gubernatorial nomination, chairman Vincent Beckman said Wednesday night.

93,698 Are Eligible To Vote In Beaver County's Primary

Some 93,698 voters will be eligible to cast their ballots in the 184 districts of Beaver County in the May primary.

The Beaver County Registration Commission at Beaver reported the figure today.

James B. Keifer, chief registrar, heads the commission, with County Commissioners Eli G. Corak, James E. Ross and Arthur W. Pettibone serving as members.

Included in the final tally are 55,908 Democrats, 37,063 Republicans and 737 independents.

Beaver County includes the 13th, 14th, 15th and 16th Legislative Districts.

Totals per district follow: 13th, 23,043, with the Democrats holding a 12,032-10,818 edge; 14th, 22,314, 12,261 Democrats and 9,913 Republicans; 15th, 25,428, 16,332 Democrats and 8,850 Republicans, and the 16th, 22,913, 15,285 Democrats and 7,472 Republicans. The independent registrations show 195, 140, 246 and 156 in the respective districts.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Heloise: Here is a little hint to comfort you girls with the upright hair dryers:

Instead of stuffing cotton or tissues over your ears, under your hairnet, try using two of the large hair spray tops (the ones that are as large around as the can), preferably the plastic ones.

It works great!

You can turn the dryer up hotter . . . it's usually your ears that burn, not your scalp.

This also cuts out a great deal of noise.

A READER.

That's a "real cool" idea if I ever heard one! My hair dryer is a portable one with a big plastic cap, and the idea works with it, too.

And know what? I stuffed both can lids with a wad of cotton this week and it really cuts down the noise.

You're a cutie for dreaming up that one.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: Being a novice at crocheting, I had worn my instruction book thin. I discovered that by slipping it (open at pattern being worked) in a clear plastic bag, I could read the instructions quite well and save wear and tear on the book.

MRS. E. ADAMS.

DEAR HELOISE: If your baby is at the "I do-it-myself" stage and doesn't like you to feed him . . . spread the meat from his baby food jar on a cracker!

Then everybody is happy.

CLARE L. WILSON.

DEAR HELOISE: Do you have rough walls that are so popular? Ever scrape your knuckles bare trying to wash those walls — only to find you are left with a shredded cloth of sponge and a dirty wall?

If so, buy an extra long-handled nylon bristle brush (that is usually used in the bathroom). It gets into the crevices, saves on back bending and does a beautiful wall-cleaning job.

You can use scalding hot water with a strong detergent because you don't even get your hands wet. All that's left is a rinse and wipe job.

Be sure to put papers on the floor to catch drips.

MRS. JIM GEALOVA.

DEAR HELOISE: Instead of folding your husband's underwear, roll it!

Put shorts on top of undershirt, then fold the "T" shirt in thirds lengthwise and roll. These rolls are nested in the bureau drawer and more convenient for him to grab when dressing.

My husband worked this on out while in the Army.

JO.

DEAR HELOISE: I save the little plastic hooks that come on so many packages of rolls and bread that I buy.

I use these to close sandwich bags that I put in my husband's lunch.

He just drops the hook in his lunch bucket and I use it again.

V.B.G.

Brush-Moore Head Reports Outlook Good

NEW YORK (AP)—Newspaper revenues in 1967 may reach a record level of $5 billion, G. Gordon Strong, president of Brush-Moore Newspapers Inc., said Wednesday.

The Canton, Ohio, publisher termed the outlook good for continued growth of the daily newspaper medium, which attracted $4.4 billion in advertising revenues last year.

Strong's remarks came at a session of the Bureau of Advertising of the American Newspaper Publishers Association. He was re-elected to an extended term as a bureau director. Fellow Ohioan Thomas Vail, Cleveland Plain Dealer publisher, also was re-elected to the board.

Their theme, "We live in the House by the Side of the Road," was taken from the location of their home in Khamma, along the grand trunk highway to New Delhi.

The slides depicted the weather extremes in India, heat and dust of the dry season, the floods of the monsoon season and the coolness and greenery of the mountain areas.

Rev. and Mrs. Barr will return to Ludhiana, India, in June, where he will serve as chaplain of the college there.

Mrs. Wendell Cole and Miss Karen Riggle led the opening hymn, accompanied by Mrs. Don Smith. Mrs. Paul Morlan, president of the association, conducted the business meeting, during which Mrs. Robert Gardner featured a Church World Service clothing appeal by appearing dressed in the many things not wanted in the drive. She said items may be brought to the church on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays up to May 15.

Miss Ingland is a commissioned evangelist with headquarters at Kansas City, Mo. She attended Eastern Nazarene College in Wollaston, Mass., and Trevecca Nazarene College in Nashville, Tenn.

Mrs. Sanford served as soloist and music director at the First Church of the Nazarene in East Liverpool from 1925 to 1946. She later moved to Maplewood, Mo., where she held a similar position in the local church of the Nazarene.

Mrs. Sanford was in charge of the Community Choir during special services at Lisbon for several years.

Plans Completed For 'Julep' Ball

Plans have been completed for the May "Julep Time" ball to be sponsored by the Presentation Women's Guild at the Willows Motel in Industry May 7 at 7 p.m.

Mrs. Anthony DiCicco, president, is general chairman for the event.

Cocktails will be served at 7, with dinner at 8. The dance will begin at 9.

Mrs. Charles Schmitt and Mrs. Nick Stevenson are program co-chairmen. Mrs. John Reider is publicity chairman and Mrs. Albert Troiani is in charge of decorating.

Tickets may be purchased from Mrs. Frank Migliore Jr., Mrs. John Haaf and Mrs. Robert Masters.

The Guild held a rummage sale Monday and Tuesday, with proceeds of $200 being contributed to the church building fund.

Pizza will be served at the Presentation lyceum by guild members Friday from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. Students from public schools also are invited.

Two Fire Runs Tied To Furnace Blowers

Defective furnace blowers were blamed for two fire runs Wednesday night and early this morning.

Willshaw said Humphrey is scheduled to be accompanied by several other high administration officials. The mayor said he hopes to obtain additional information on federal aid programs for cities. The meeting will begin at 1 p.m. at the Sheraton - Cleveland Hotel, with Humphrey slated to speak at 1:30 in his role as White House liaison with local governments.

Firemen were called to the home of Dr. Harry L. Frost of 163 Pennsylvania Ave. at 2:04 a.m. today when a blower overheated, filling the house with smoke.

East End firemen went to the home of Richard Wolfe of 1843

Ohio Ave. at 8:20 p.m. Wednesday to investigate fumes.

Firemen said the fumes resulted from the failure of the furnace blower to shut off.

The meeting will include the mayors of all cities up to 30,000 population in Ohio, Indiana, Michigan, Illinois and Wisconsin. Ohio's participation is being arranged by the Ohio Municipal League.

George Mase Speaks At Beaver Assembly

Dr. George Mase of East Lansing, Mich., acting chairman of metallurgy at Michigan State University, spoke to the Beaver Local High School college preparatory students this morning during an assembly.

He discussed opportunities in engineering and screened a film of the Michigan State campus. He was introduced by Ted Taylor, principal. Dr. Mase is a 1938 graduate of East Liverpool High School and the son of George H. Mase of 816 Division St.

Probe Of Illicit Sex Among Patients Set

CINCINNATI (AP)—A grand jury will begin Monday an investigation into charges of illicit sex among patients and abuse of patients at Longview State Hospital.

State Rep. Harry H. McIlwain of Cincinnati, a candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, asked for the investigation following the dismissal of an employee, Harold Leigh. Leigh claims he was fired because he divulged to McIlwain claims of patient abuse and illegal sex at the big hospital.

Missionaries Relate Work During Meeting At Lisbon

LISBON — "The day of the Willing Workers Class of St. Jacob's United Church of Christ missionary is not finished — it has just begun," the Rev. and Mrs. William D. Barr declared as they showed slides and reviewed their 10 years of missionary work in India for 60 members and guests of the Women's Association of the First Presbyterian Church Tuesday night.

Balloonist's Flight Hopes Crash Again

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Tracy Barnes and his aspirations to cross the United States in a hot-air balloon have crashed again.

Barnes sustained back injuries when he was thrown from his gondola as it struck a rocky peak in the Laguna Mountains Wednesday. The $15,000 balloon and gondola crashed about five miles away.

An air search found Barnes and a deputy sheriff hiked into the rugged terrain about 55 miles southeast of here. The two men spent the night, and the sheriff's office said a rescue party would bring the men out today.

A spokesman for Barnes said he didn't know whether the aeronaut planned to continue his transcontinental flight that began April 9.

At that time, Barnes, 27, of Chester, S. C., flew about 10 miles before bad weather forced him down. Two days and a postponement later, a vent stuck and he and a companion had to parachute to safety.

Since then Barnes repaired the craft and waited for favorable winds.

He took off from here Tuesday night but radioed Wednesday that the air was turbulent and he was descending.

If you want that cheese bread to taste nippy, use a sharp-flavored cheddar cheese in it.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: Our card an nauseum. Her stacks of girls are so aggressive it makes me glad my sons are grown.

We all have grandchildren.

One woman who joined the club last year has become positively obnoxious. She has held up the game for as long as 15 minutes at a time telling us little anecdotes about her grandchildren.

Mrs. Talkathon never fails to bring several posters and drawings that her grandchildren made in school. We have listened to their essays and poems.

Dear Rec: At the next meeting announce that you have something cute to tell about your grandchildren. Drag out an interminable yarn—ad nauseum. Be sure to pass around a few dozen snapshots.

When you're finished, apologize for taking so much time and suggest that the club adopt a rule—no more talking about grandchildren. Recommend that the fine for breaking the rule be $5. After that, if Mrs. Talkathon insists on chattering about her grandchildren it's going to be mighty expensive.

House Mother

Dear Ann: I was knocked out by a sentence which appeared in your column recently. Miss K.Q. asked — and with a perfectly straight face — "If the boys think virginity is so important, why don't they leave a few around?"

The lady's question implies that the deflowered lassies have all been drugged, slugged, hit in the head and carried off. Surely, Ann Landers, you don't buy that?

I have raised both boys and girls and am now in my seventh year as a house mother on a Midwestern campus. Today the girls are so aggressive it makes me glad my sons are grown.

There's a rule on this campus that as she is of hers but we wouldn't think of imposing on folks the way she does.

What can be done to shut this woman up—short of telling her that we are weary of listening to her yak about her grand-children?—BROKEN RECORD.

Yesterday an 18-year-old lad asked if I would go to his room and request that the girl leave.

"I can't get her out," he said. So, please, Ann Landers, don't perpetuate the myth that the little boys are seducing the little girls left and right. Generally it's mutual. Sometimes it's the girl who does the seducing.—IN COMMUNICATION.

Dear In: I appreciate your comments and would not deny that there is a large portion of truth in what you say.

Instinctively, however, the male is the predator and no matter how wild some of the girls may seem, nature has decreed that the chaste will will be chased—and sometimes caught. This is not my personal opinion, it is part of The Great Design.

Confidentially

TO HAWK OR DOVE?: He sounds like a chicken to me. I have no suggestions whatever.

All I know is what I read in the papers. And that's all he knows, too, so don't buy the .007 line that he has access to classified information.

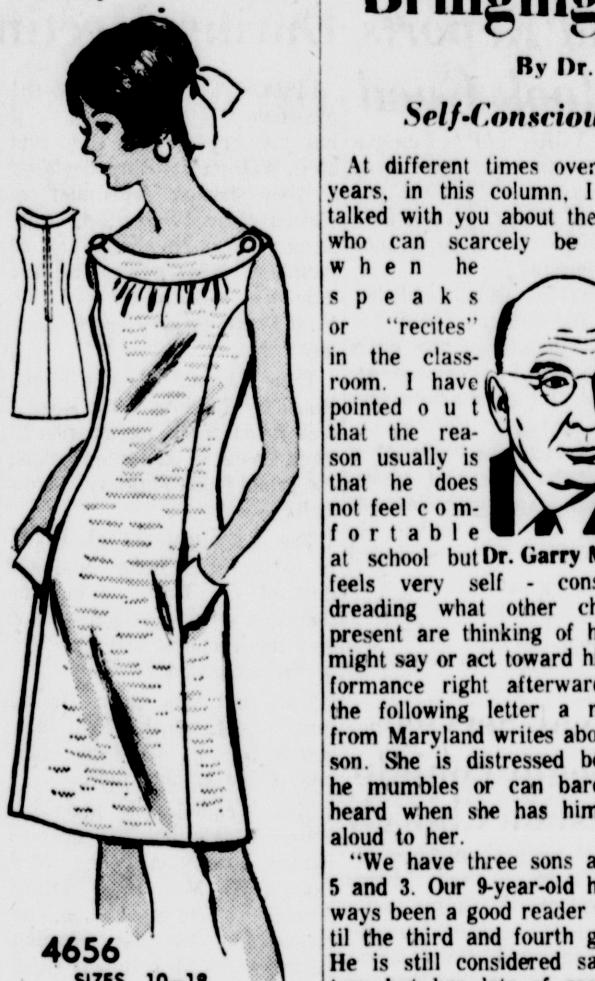

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Gov. Scranton Signs Mines Subsidence Bill

HARRISBURG, Pa. — Gov. Scranton signed into law Wednesday a bituminous mines subsidence bill aimed at protecting property owners against surface damage caused by deep mining.

In signing the measure, Scranton praised members of the House and Senate, representatives of property owners and the coal mining industry "for developing this vital piece of legislation."

Bringing Up A Family

By Dr. GARRY MYERS

Self-Conscious Child Speaks Softly

At different times over the years, in this column, I have talked with you about the child who can scarcely be heard when he speaks or "recites" in the classroom. I have pointed out that the reason usually is that he does not feel comfortable at school but

Dr. Garry Myers feels very self-conscious, dreading what other children present are thinking of him or might say or act toward his performance right afterwards.

In the following letter a mother from Maryland writes about her son. She is distressed because he mumbles or can barely be heard when she has him read aloud to her.

"We have three sons ages 9, 5 and 3. Our 9-year-old has always been a good reader up until the third and fourth grades. He is still considered satisfactory but has lots of room for improvement. I would like to help him but become upset when he doesn't speak loud and clear.

"OUR SON reads very softly and tends to run his words together. I have left him alone for the past few weeks because I know I am doing more harm than good. How can I encourage him to pronounce each word without upsetting both of us?"

My reply in part: My guess is that the reason your boy speaks so softly and mumbles so much when he reads aloud is because he feels very self-conscious. No doubt you have made so much over this matter that his fears have increased. You say that you parents are

The Walrus and two more British subs — the Osiris and the Opportune — were docked in Baltimore since last Thursday, following NATO maneuvers in the Atlantic.

When the Walrus left for home Wednesday, Barbara was hiding in the conning tower.

After four hours, exhaust fumes from the sub's engine sickened her and she turned herself in.

"It's a good thing she got sick," a police detective said later. He said the compartment where she hid would have filled with water if the sub had submerged.

When she did come out of hiding, the sub radioed the British Embassy and was ordered to get the girl back to land immediately.

An Army engineer patrol boat met the sub in the Delaware Canal. Barbara was annoyed, angered, over his mode of utterance while reading. Just ask yourselves why you should be annoyed. Consider how he feels then. Put yourselves in his imagination, in his place and you will understand his problem and learn to be patient with him.

YOU ARE wise to have quit helping your son. Unless and until you can manage yourself better, don't resume this help. But I'm sure there will come a time when you will really be able to help the boy.

I hope you and Dad find easy and interesting materials for him to read and ways to help him gain satisfaction from success at reading. Do read a great deal to him; also with him, especially from the harder parts of his assigned lessons.

I hope, too, that Dad spends a lot of time with this eldest boy, doing things and going places with him, attracting other boys of his age sometimes to join them.

I hope you encourage him, even hire him, to read to the next younger child to amuse this child.

FIND EASY pictured material for this purpose. But you should plan not be present when he is reading to this child lest he be hampered. If he finds he can greatly amuse this other child, he will naturally speak more plainly and distinctly.

I hope you parents, especially at mealtime, listen appreciatively when this boy talks — don't hurry him or interrupt him; say nothing about his speech.

Grant OK'd, Beaver Local Sets Session

A $12,447 federal grant for a Beaver Local School District summer instruction and tutoring course for students in grades one through five has been approved. Sup't. Roy Cash-dollar announced Wednesday.

The session will be held June 6-July 2 for students wishing the extra instruction work. Some 110 already have registered, he said.

The grant includes funds for five movie projectors, five opaque projectors, five film slide projectors, five overhead projectors, five screens, five sets of encyclopedias, along with $1,000 each for reading materials in mathematics, science libraries and social studies, plus salaries for five teachers to conduct the sessions.

Man, 28, Held In Murder Of 5 Neighbors

NORRISTOWN, Pa. (AP)—A slight, 28-year-old Norristown shipping clerk, described as quiet and friendless, is being held without bail for a further hearing on charges of murdering five elderly one-time neighbors since 1961.

Closely interwoven with the slayings, which occurred in a middle-class neighborhood of Italian and Sicilian descent was a theme of sorcery, witchcraft and the so-called evil eye.

The evil eye, according to believers, is a glance capable of inflicting harm. It is reportedly very prevalent among Italian families today, especially those with peasant or Sicilian backgrounds. Montgomery County Dist. Atty. Richard S. Lowe, at a news conference, said the evil eye was related to the case, but would not elaborate.

"Many of these people brought these beliefs over from Italy," said a resident of the neighborhood. "Almost every one of them probably has been cursed at one time in his life. If he believes in it, he lets it run his life."

Charged with the slayings of a man and his wife last weekend, a man in 1963, and a man and his wife in 1961—all of whom lived within a four-block radius—is John Harry Bruno.

Bruno, who is single, weighs about 140 pounds, and has dark, wavy brown hair, stood mute Wednesday night as Magistrate Charles H. Jamison read five charges of homicide and one of robbery against him at a preliminary hearing.

Bruno, surrounded by a packed room of police, newsmen and his father, Charles, 58, was given 10 days to obtain a counsel for the further hearing, which will be determined at a later date.

The bullet-riddled bodies of Ottavio Perricone, 76, and his wife, Pauline, 67, were found Sunday night. They had been dead about 20 hours—indicating they, like Joseph Licata, 77, and his wife, Katherine, 72, and Anthony Scoma, 58, had been slain on a Saturday night.

Terror began to spread through the neighborhood in northeast Norristown after the first murder in 1961.

Perricone's son, Jacob, had told police his father bought a sword cane shortly after Scoma was murdered to protect himself. He said his father was in constant fear for his life.

"The area is filled with the fear of sorcery and witchcraft," Lowe said. "These people just don't talk. They don't volunteer information and they don't respond to questions."

Both Licata and Scoma, before their deaths, had told friends: "I got a devil on my back."

Lowe said the motive for the killings was revenge. He refused to elaborate, however, saying it might ruin the prosecution's case.

He said a big factor leading to Bruno's arrest was a .22 caliber, snub-nose revolver, which, he said, was found hidden in Bruno's room. He said preliminary investigation indicated the gun killed all five victims.

Although police charged Bruno with having taken a wallet from Scoma's home, they said robbery was not an apparent motive.

Bruno and his father were picked up for questioning late Tuesday night, but police did not reveal they were in custody until Wednesday.

"He is a quiet boy and has no friends," Charles Bruno said of his son, a shipping clerk with the Glenn-Carry Sportswear Co.

Liquor Group Studies 'Alligator' Dance Case

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The "alligator" came to Columbus Wednesday—presumably by verbal description only—as the State Liquor Control Commission heard charges against Robert G. Monning Jr.'s Nebbish Bar in Cincinnati.

The commission took under advisement the case in which the bar was cited for permitting improper conduct, lewd dancing and immoral and obscene activities. A couple was arrested doing the "alligator," a dance police call indecent, touching off the case last month.

Missing Ohio Tourist Located In Germany

CHERBOURG, France (AP)—Cherbourg police say Otto Steinmeier, an American tourist reported missing Wednesday has been located in Duesseldorf, Germany.

Police said Steinmeier, 78, of Newark, Ohio, complained to police in Duesseldorf that his car had been stolen. The car is in Cherbourg and is being held by the police.

Steinmeier was seen in Cherbourg last Friday when he asked police for directions to help find the car, which he had left near a steamship company office.

Monaca Campus Of Penn State U. Gets U.S. Funds

HARRISBURG (AP)—The Federal Appalachian Regional Commission has approved two federal grants, totaling $1 million, for construction of buildings at new Pennsylvania State University campuses in Beaver and Fayette Counties.

John K. Tabor, state commerce secretary, said Wednesday final approval for the grants must come from the U.S. secretary of commerce.

A classroom building, library and laboratory are planned at the Beaver County campus at Monaca, Tabor said. The buildings would cost $2 million, of which 30 per cent would be financed under the Appalachian Act, 40 per cent under the Federal Higher Education Facilities Act and 30 per cent from local sources.

temporary. He has indicated an interest in running for the U.S. Senate, possibly against Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., in 1968.

Eight candidates are seeking the Democratic nomination.

allenged by Rep. Glenn C. Cunningham, R-Neb., a committee member.

"All of the testimony seems to be directed at the automobile when there are no statistics that prove the design of the automobile is a major factor," Cunningham said. "Everyone is trying to make the automobile a whipping boy."

Earlier, when Kelner testified that 1966 cars are no safer than 1940 models because "the basic structure of the car is still basically weak," Cunningham told him: "It's the driver that causes that condition. It's not the car's fault."

2 Motorists Ordered To Pay Costs In Court

Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff today assessed court costs against two motorists in old traffic cases.

Nathaniel Brown, 36, of 2020 Hazel Alley was given the penalty on a charge of driving without an operator's license. Arrested on April 18, he had been granted a continuance until today to allow him to apply for a new permit.

A similar penalty was given Joseph E. Stanley of 1200 Harker Ave., cited April 20 on a charge of operating an unsafe vehicle. Returning to court today, Stanley said he has disposed of the auto.

Cleveland May Get Rail Traffic Boost By Merger

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Cleveland may get an increase in rail traffic up to one third as a result of the merger of the New York Central and Pennsylvania railroads, their spokesmen say.

The officials made the estimate Wednesday in a statement evaluating effects of the consolidation on Ohio points along the newly combined line.

A NYC official said in Cleveland that much of the traffic now going over the Pennsylvania between the New York and St. Louis-Chicago now can be handled on NYC tracks because the water level route through Cleveland would cut costs.

The Cleveland NYC spokesman said it also is expected that substantial reconstruction will be undertaken at the Collinwood Yard just east of Cleveland. Some employees at Collinwood probably will be transferred to other locations, he added.

Pennsylvania spokesman in Chicago said there may be some additions to facilities in Columbus.

At Heath in Licking County, a connection with the Baltimore & Ohio will be required to the New York Central's tracks to provide a route for trains from Columbus to the Charleston-Dickinson area.

Another connection will be needed between the Norfolk & Western Sandusky branch siding and the NYC to Clintonville where it joins the main line to provide the route for Columbus-Cleveland traffic to and from Columbus Yard B, Grogan, and the N&W Pennor yard.

Still another connection at London in Madison County from the NYC's Cincinnati-Springfield Dayton line to the Pennsylvania's Miami main line is planned to provide routes to yards in Columbus.

For Toledo, the Stanley yards of the NYC will be principal operations point with the outer yard converted into a supporting operation for nearby industry.

For the railroad center of Crestline-Galion, Pennsylvania spokesmen said concentration of operations at the Pennsylvania facilities in Crestline will be the principal effect of the merger.

Firemen To Buy Smoke Ejector

Purchase of a smoke ejector was approved during the business meeting of Liverpool Township east volunteer fire department Wednesday night at the Dixonville station.

Plans also were discussed for a banquet May 26 commemorating the 10th anniversary of the founding of the department.

John Borsos, president, announced firemen have completed a refresher course in basic firefighting.

Ken Schneidmiller, a member of the west department, displayed a home safety device in which an alarm activates a bell when the room temperature reaches 125 degrees.

Refreshments were served by Everett Vernaccini. A training session will be held May 11.

Driver Faces Hearing After Hit-Skip Case

A LaCroft motorist, chased from Wellsville to East Liverpool following an accident, was charged with hit-skip. Wellsville police said today.

Officers said Roy E. Anthony of 5th Ave., LaCroft, will receive a hearing Saturday before Mayor William Daugherty on the charge.

Anthony hit a truck driven by Eli Bakich of Weirton while making the curve at 3rd and Lisbon Sts. Wednesday at 4:15 p.m.

Anthony's car narrowly missed the Wellsville police cruiser driven by Capt. Pete Trainer, who gave chase when Anthony failed to halt.

Anthony was picked up at his home with the assistance of East Liverpool police and charged with leaving the scene of an accident.

A car operated by John E. Porter of Chester Ave., Wellsville, bumped the rear of a truck halted at 16th St. and Clark Ave. at 8:20 a.m. The truck driver, James Purash of Avella, Pa., had halted for coffee, police said.

W. Va. Motorists Due License Applications

CHARLESTON, W. Va. — Some 715,000 motor vehicle renewal application forms will be mailed to West Virginia residents starting May 16. Motor Vehicles Commissioner James K. Thomas says the applications must include payment for the license and a copy of the applicant's personal property tax receipt.

John Borsos, president, announced firemen have completed a refresher course in basic firefighting.

Ken Schneidmiller, a member of the west department, displayed a home safety device in which an alarm activates a bell when the room temperature reaches 125 degrees.

Refreshments were served by Everett Vernaccini. A training session will be held May 11.

Out Of The Air

By RICHARD K. DOAN

New Owner Of The Ranch

Charles Bickford, a portrayer of rugged movie characters dating back to the late 1920s, will more or less assume the patriarchal role Lee J. Cobb has played in NBC's "The Virginian" since its inception nearly five years ago.

That is, Bickford will not become Richard Doan Judge Henry Garth, the character Cobb has played, but will come on the scene next September as new owner of Garth's large Shiloh cattle ranch. The judge will have sold out and moved on. Cobb has checked out of "The Virginian" at his own behest.

Bickford, according to NBC sources, has not yet signed a contract with Universal producers of the Western series, but has made an oral commitment.

The storyline calls for him to arrive on the scene with a grandson, to be portrayed by Don Quine, and a granddaughter. The latter role has been offered to Debbie Watson, whose ABC "Tammy" series is in fadout.

James Drury, who plays the title role in the series, and Doug McClure and Clu Galager are due back in the fall, but Randy Boone and Roberta Shaw, along with Cobb, will be missing.

ABC'S DISAPPOINTMENT with "The Baron," a British-made adventure drama starring American actor Steve Forrest, apparently has not dampened the network's confidence in the potential of this kind of TV fare.

The network has given British TV impresario Lew Grade, who produces "The Baron," an order for a new series titled "McGill," and it sounds like a variation on the current entry. The plan is to shoot it in England and on the continent with an American actor, yet to be cast, playing the lead.

Significantly, an ABC official described "McGill" as a sort of "international Sam Spade." A few months ago the character might have been likened to James Bond.

THE BELIEF now seemingly is that Bond is soon to be passe and the next wave is represented by a detective type such as Paul Newman portrays in "Harper," a new movie.

The central character in "McGill" will be, a networker said, "a professional policeman" who has been unfairly discriminated and is out trying not to apprehend bad guys but also "to apprehend his good name."

Plans are to begin production of "McGill" in the next several months with an eye to introducing it on ABC next midwinter.

"The Baron" was a midwinter "second season" entry. It fizzled, ratings-wise, at the outset.

Grade also produces such series as "Secret Agent" and "The Saint."

LUCILLE BALL'S plans to do a TV special in Paris this spring have fizzled owing to "insurmountable production problems" encountered in France, according to a spokesman for the star.

There is a slim chance she might hop over to London to film a special for CBS for next season, but she hasn't much time. She is due to begin work on her weekly comedy series for the fall on June 6.

CBS-TV program chief Mike Dann reports the two-hour production of Arthur Miller's "Death of a Salesman" to be shown on his network Sunday night, May 8, will be interrupted only four times for commercials.

National Steel Corp. Cites Dip In Earnings

PITTSBURGH (AP) — National Steel Corp. says first quarter earnings dropped almost $7 million from the comparable period last year.

National, in the announcement Wednesday, blamed liquidation of customer inventories and increased labor costs for earnings of $15,938,000, or $1.01 per share; a drop from the 1965 first quarter figure of $22,753,000, or $1.45 a share.

Questions On Canal Dodged By Rhodes

ORWELL, Ohio (AP) — Questions on the proposed $1.25 billion Lake Erie-Otio River Canal were dodged by Gov. James A. Rhodes during an appearance here to promote industry.

He told newsmen Wednesday that he did not know if he would take any stand on the canal. "The development department is studying it," he said.

Taft Considered Favorite In GOP Bid For Congress

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Robert Taft Jr., defeated two years ago when he tried to follow his famous father into the U.S. Senate, is campaigning to win back a seat in the House.

The son of the late "Mr. Republican" is a candidate in the May 3 Primary for the GOP congressional nomination in the 1st District.

Taft, 49, had served only one term when he gave up the House seat to run against Democratic Sen. Stephen M. Young, and lost in one of the major upsets of the 1964 election.

The 1st District seat was captured by a Democrat, Rep. John J. Gilligan, who is unopposed for renomination.

A fellow Cincinnati attorney, William E. Flax, has challenged Taft in the Republican primary. But Flax, a political novice, is given little chance of winning.

Taft has ignored his Republican opponent to attack Gilligan and the national Democratic administration on domestic issues, particularly the rising cost of living. The Viet Nam War hasn't figured in the campaign.

Two other well-known Republicans also have opposition in the primary.

For the first time in a decade, Rep. William M. McCulloch is having to run for renomination in the 4th District. James M. Carpenter, Lima businessman, is his opponent.

And in the 7th District, Clarence J. Brown Jr., serving out the term of his father, is opposed by H. Quinn Licklider of Springfield.

Brown, an Urbana newspaper publisher and radio station owner, defeated Licklider and several others last fall in a special election called after his father died.

Most Republicans who hold state offices are unopposed. An exception is Gov. James A. Rhodes, opposed again by William L. White, 74, a Mount Vernon businessman who lost to Rhodes four years ago by 460,000 votes. Rhodes has ignored White's campaign.

Two young legislators are contending for the Democratic nomination to run against Rhodes in the November general election.

Industrial Mining and Engineering Co. vs. Tassi Coal Co., judgment by confession for plaintiff for $2,124.06, interest and costs.

Wolf Explosives and Supply Co. vs. Gene Tassi, et al; defendant Gene Tassi confessed guilty to a charge of operating a motorcycle 70 miles an hour in a 50-mile zone on the East Liverpool-Wellsboro Rd.

Bowers was cited Tuesday at 10:45 p.m. by the State Highway Patrol. The judge asserted: "In my opinion, you have no control whatsoever over a motorcycle at 70 miles an hour. They're a dangerous instrument at best." He also fined Bowers $15 and costs.

First Flight Co. vs. Vince Leskosky; judgment by default for plaintiff for $1,066.43 with interest and costs.

Vincent C. Judge, county treasurer, vs. Robert Carter, et al; finding and judgment for plaintiff for delinquent taxes in amount of $289.26 and costs; decree of foreclosure and order of sale.

Yonkers Savings Bank vs. Harry H. Roberts, et al; the plaintiff, having made the highest bid at sheriff's sale, said bid is assigned to the administrator of Veterans Affairs and the sheriff's deed is to be made to that officer.

Alice E. Dodds vs. Vincent Dino; agreement reached as follows: defendant is to pay plaintiff $1,750 within 30 days whereupon plaintiff is to convey title to defendant by warranty deed.

Little Progress Seen In News Strike Talks

NEW YORK (AP) — Mediator Theodore W. Kheel today reported "a little progress, but not nearly enough" at a meeting of representatives of the printers union and the World Journal Tribune Inc. which is struck by the Newspaper Guild of New York.

Matt Meyer, president of the corporation, said he did not think any progress was made.

"Neither side has made any definite offer," he said. "We are still too far apart."

Smoky Continues As Best In Pinch With White Sox

By HAL BOCK

Associated Press Sports Writer

Smoky Burgess, the catcher who could pass for one of those paunchy movie bartenders, doesn't worry about tools of ignorance lugged around by most receivers.

Burgess lugs around only one tool—his bat.

And he used it Wednesday delivering a two-run pinch single that helped the Chicago White Sox to an 8-6 victory over Boston.

A burly 38-year-old veteran, Burgess stands 5-foot-8 and weighs 192 pounds—most of it centrally located. He doesn't look the part but he happens to be the most prolific pinch hitter in baseball history. That's why the White Sox let the other guys wear the shin guards and chest protectors.

Everytime Burgess delivers a pinch hit, he adds to his major league record. Wednesday's pinch hit was his third this season and the 11th of his 17-year major league career. It helped the Sox to their 9th victory in 12 starts.

In the only other American League game played Wednesday, Washington blanked New York 2-0 on Mike McCormick's pitch.

McCormick, who was a $50,000 bonus boy with the New York Giants a decade ago, and won the National League earned run crown in 1960, is making a comeback as a Yankee-killer.

The shutout extended McCormick's streak to 21 scoreless innings against the onetime Bombers, who have now lost 12 of 14 starts.

McCormick developed arm trouble in 1962 and drifted to Baltimore and finally the minors before being sold to the Senators in 1965. At 27, he's making a new career for himself in the American League.

McCormick got the runs he needed when Ken McMullen smacked a two-run double off Al Downing in the third inning.

The hit was one of only three that Downing gave up but it was enough to beat the young lefthander.

Celtics Rated Favorite In Final Playoff Game

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Celtics, smarting but determined, and the rejuvenated Los Angeles Lakers, cocky after two comeback victories, meet tonight for the National Basketball Association championship.

"We'll win it," said Coach Red Auerbach of Boston, who wants to move upstairs fulltime as general manager with an eighth straight championship.

"To a man, we know we can win it," said Coach Fred Schaus of Los Angeles, whose Lakers seek to become the first team in NBA history to win three straight after dropping behind 3-1 in the best-of-seven series.

The Celtics are rated an overwhelming eight-point favorite in the title showdown despite a 121-117 loss in Boston last Sunday and the Lakers' convincing 123-115 victory in Los Angeles Tuesday.

Dodger Rookie Hurler Defeats Braves, 4-1

By MIKE RATHET

Don (Little D) Sutton looks like he's ready to challenge Don Drysdale for the Big D label — both on the mound and at the plate.

A 21-year-old right-hander in only his second year of professional baseball, Sutton emphasizes his rapid development Wednesday night when he posted the first complete game of his major league career in the Los Angeles Dodgers' 4-1 victory over Atlanta.

Sutton's place with the Dodgers remained questionable because of his inexperience until Drysdale and Sandy Koufax went into their holdout routine during spring training. Manager Walt Alston looked at Sutton's minor league record, and then decided to look at the real thing. He hasn't been disappointed.

"Sutton has improved every start," said Alston after the 6-foot-1, 185-pounder checked the Braves on five hits and struck out 10 while walking only one. "Right now he's the fourth best starter on the staff."

Sutton, however, may be after bigger things. He's already posted two victories, and also is stealing some of Drysdale's hitting thunder. Big D was the Dodgers' leading hitter last year but Little D collected two hits against the Braves and now is No. 1 on the club with six hits in 13 at-bats as Vada Pinson went 4-for-4.

Drysdale is winless and hitless.

Only two other National League games were played, the Houston Astros defeating St. Louis 3-1 behind Dave Giusti's three-hit pitching and Cincinnati outslugging San Francisco 8-6 as Pinson went 4-for-4.

Jim Wynn, however, had provided Giusti with more than enough working room. Wynn cracked a two-run homer in the sixth inning, then led off the ninth with a single and came around on an infield out, a wild pitch and Bob Aspromonte's and drove in two, helped the Reds build a 6-0 lead for Milt Pappas. But the Giants moved back into a tie with Willie McCovey hitting a grand slam homer and Ollie Brown a solo shot.

The Reds went ahead to stay in the eighth inning when Tommy Harper walked and moved around on a sacrifice, Don Pavletich's infield hit and a force out. A triple by Pinson and Mel Queen's sacrifice fly produced an insurance run in the ninth.

Pinson, who scored three runs

Stanley Playoff Resumes Tonight

DETROIT (AP) — Sid Abel and Joe Blake have had vastly different results from their player moves in the Stanley Cup playoffs so far.

Abel's changes have made him look like a master of manipulation. Blake, on the other hand, has done nothing but shake his head after watching the results of his moves.

The next head-to-head test between the rival coaches will take place tonight when the Detroit Red Wings play host to Blake's Montreal Canadiens in the third game of the Cup finals.

The blacksmiths threatened a strike before Dienst accepted their demand last week for a closed shop.

Arrest That Car

Sounds Great, But There's A Snag

NEW YORK — When traffic laws are flouted, should the car be jailed instead of the driver?

Sounds like a great idea, road safety experts agreed in a survey today, but there's a snag: It wouldn't work.

For one thing, the experts pointed out, there isn't enough municipal storage space to accommodate even a fraction of the automobiles which would wind up in custody.

For another, hordes of workers depend on their cars for transportation and a serious breakdown of commerce and industry would threaten immediately.

The suggestion that automobiles involved in traffic violations be removed from circulation was set forth by William Colson, past president of the Trial Lawyers Association in a speech in Miami Tuesday.

Colson said the offending car owner should be charged storage costs until a court decided to give him back his set of wheels.

His proposal found few takers.

"It would be an administrative monstrosity," protested Traffic Inspector Joseph Hafferty of the Philadelphia police department.

"In 1965 there were 165,000 hazardous traffic violations in Philadelphia alone. What about out-of-town violators? Would you ship the drivers back to California, or wherever?"

"It would constitute a possibly unequal punishment — some people need their cars to make a living," said Division Traffic Inspector N.L. Rector of Los Angeles.

A spokesman for automobile drivers was scornful. Said Samuel T. Milliken, manager of the Keystone-Philadelphia Automobile Club: "Put the car in jail? Sure, why not? Just convert all parking garages and lots into jailhouses. Swear in garage attendants as policemen. What matter if it slows the wheels of industry to a grinding halt?"

The only outright booster for Colson's idea was Richard McLaughlin, Massachusetts register of motor vehicles. He has already put a bill into the state legislative mill which would impound for 60 days the cars of drivers twice convicted of driving with invalid licenses.

Improved Service Seen In Pennsy-NYC Merger

NEW YORK (AP) — The mission rejected by a 6-5 vote of the New York Central and Pennsylvania railroads predict the merger of the once-bitter business rivals will result in improved passenger and freight service and possibly lower fares.

Most unions, state officials and other railroads applauded the unanimous ruling Wednesday by the Interstate Commerce Commission — ICC — that turned two of the nation's rail giants into one in history's largest corporate merger.

Unless legal action is taken to block the consolidation, which had been sought for five years, the two systems are free to unify beginning June 1.

In an effort to insure no job losses from the merger, the ICC ruled the system may not reduce its work force without showing a 5 per cent business drop in any 30-day period.

Another condition imposed on the merged railroad is that it assume operation of the freight and passenger service of the deficit-ridden New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad through 1966. It said the New Haven could not abandon the bulk of its passenger service.

In another action, the com-

Urge President To Act

Dirksen Challenges LBJ On Budget Increase Talk

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senator Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen challenged President Johnson today to act — and not just talk — about the $3 billion the President fears Congress is going to boost his budget.

Johnson said at a White House ceremony Wednesday that the way things are going "it looks like they may up the budget $3 billion this year" over the $13 billion spending budget he recommended for the fiscal year beginning July 1.

If that happens, Dirksen said in an interview, it will be all the fault of Democrats in Congress who owe political allegiance to the President.

"The Republicans are trying to hold spending down to prevent a tax increase," Dirksen said. "I would respectfully suggest that the President could be of help in this if he would direct a request to his party leaders to resist the increases he is complaining about. Thus far there has been no such request."

An influential Democrat who didn't want to be quoted by name said there isn't likely to be one, either.

"The President picked the favorite items on the Christmas tree when he made his budget cuts," this Democrat said. "From the background of 30 years around here he knew exactly which items are most popular and those are the ones he picked to reduce."

"He's jockeying the Republicans into voting against a lot of things the people back home

- Choice of "Live Glass" or "Zinc-in-ized" tanks — Glass lined, warranty a full 10 years.
- 100% Safety Controls — White gas models include both safe lighting and automatic safety shutoff. Electric models feature automatic safety under all conditions.
- Highest Efficiency Heating Units — Gas model feature single-port, no-clog burner. Spread "Film of Flame" over entire bottom of tank, not just one "hot-spot". Electric feature double units inside tank. Heat water directly, not just tank wall.
- Fashion-Styler, Decorator Colors — Compact tabletops smartly styled to match other kitchen appliances. Under-counter models. Short, medium, tall models in gleaming white, turquoise and copper.

SOLUTION OF YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE

QUESTION: How do astronauts breathe in space?

ANSWER: There is no air in space. When astronauts venture out beyond the layer of air surrounding the earth, they must take their air with them. Oxygen is the part of air we must breathe in order to live. It can be made by chemical processes and compressed into steel cylinders. The astronauts take enough of these along to last through their trips. We show some of the ways spacemen use oxygen.

At the upper left is an orbiting capsule with one or more astronauts inside. These men may be in sealed space suits with tubes giving them oxygen from the capsule's main supply. If a suit is taken off, the oxygen must fill the capsule. When an astronaut steps out alone into space, as was done last year, (upper right), a long tube connected with the capsule will give him needed air.

Someday, perhaps, men will live on the moon, perhaps in large plastic domes as we suggest below. Inside these domes, plants will be grown to help with the oxygen supply, since most plants give off oxygen. It will probably be possible to control living conditions inside such a dome so as to make them quite comfortable. At lower left, a man is exploring in a special moon suit. These will carry their own oxygen tanks.

FOR YOU TO DO: Draw your own version of a man walking in a moon suit, but remember that recent pictures show the moon's surface to be extremely pitted and rough. You will have to provide some special contraption which he could wear on his feet.
